The novel opens with Aunty Polly scowling the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered in jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunty Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunty Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper, and his mother is surprised to find a piece of soap on his collar. She asks him about his adventures. During supper, Aunty I is also present. She asks Tom what he has been doing and why he was not at school. Tom tells her he was sick, but he is still allowed to eat and drink.

Tom and the new arrival connect over their shared interests, and eventually, Tom and the new arrival become best friends.

When Tom returns home in the evening, Aunty Polly is waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunty Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of narwhale. Jim almost agrees, but Aunty Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his chores.
