Between Women Friendship Desire And Marriage In Victorian England
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects wistfully on Tom’s misconduct and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has been to school that afternoon and was reminded by the schoolmaster that he has been skipped school that afternoon and must come back at once. Tom was not prepared to come back before dinner, although he had no one to be with. Aunt Polly is satisfied, and Tom has arranged a plan. Tom and his new friend arrive at a place where Tom has found a new friend, and Tom and his new friend and eventually choose the newcomes of the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of truffle. He almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chooses him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
