The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischievous nature and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper that night and tells Aunt Polly about all the things he's learned about his adventures during the day. Despite being spiritually inclined, Aunt Polly can't resist her wild nephew and showers him with affection. Tom's half-brother, Sid, is also there, and Tom shushes him to dispose of his suffering.

Tom goes out of the house in search of his father, who is always out of town. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom is waylaid by a group of boys and is forced to say his prayers and eventually chased the newcomers all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jan passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white ally," a kind of muzzle. Jan almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
