Disability Discrimination And The Workplace Second Edition
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's misdeed and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time, all dirty and in a bad humor from a day's tramp through the woods and fields. His clothes are all torn and dirty, and his hair is tangled and greasy, but still, Tom is Tom. His father, Ben Sawyer, is not pleased to see him, and chides him for his conduct. Tom has sworn the oath himself to dispose of his 'fag' and ruin the reputation of the whole family. Tom goes out of the house in a bad humor, muttering and whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom is stopped by an old man, who asks him if he has any money. Tom is too embarrassed to answer, and runs away. The old man follows him, and Tom talks to him about his adventures. The old man, Mr. Thatcher, is interested, and Tom tells him about his adventures and how he was shed school that afternoon and went to the river to catch some fish. The old man is impressed, and asks Tom if he wants to be a school teacher. Tom is interested, and agrees to come to school the next day.

When Tom returns home in the evening, Aunt Polly is waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Him passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "whale alley," a kind of milestone. Him refuses, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
