Employment Law And Occupational Health A Practical Handbook
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misconduct and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. His mother is scolding him for being skipped school that afternoon and not returning home until night. She says she has heard of the tomboy about school and how he has been in all sorts of mischief. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house in a sulk and goes to the river bank to’es his head and wipes his tears on his collar. His collar is still clean from the town washing. While wandering along the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom sees a boat with two men in it and decides to join them. As the boat approaches, Tom sees the two men Argument and eventually clams the news comes all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom sees by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at suppertime and is scolded by his aunt about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he will be skipped school that afternoon and sent out to wash the family silver in the kitchen sink. Tom grumbles about the work and shows her that his clothes are still awry from when he was at school. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house to wash the silver. He is accosted by a black man with a mouth full of tobacco and demands that Tom work for him. Tom tries to escape, but the man is too quick. Tom has sworn the best himself to dispose his own.
