Essentials Of Micro And Nanofluidics With Applications To The Biological And Chemical Sciences
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with ink, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misbehavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time looking pale and ill, and has about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells him she shall not be skipped school that afternoon and serves him a huge bowl of gruel. Tom is just about to eat when he hears a knock at the door. It is Tom’s half-brother, Benjy, who rushes in to show Tom that his cow is still alive. Tom is overjoyed, and Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house in search of Mr. Mark Twain, who has promised to give him a job. While wandering the streets, Tom sees a man carrying a large package and eventually chases the newcomer all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his stained clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of ushership. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at supper. He tells his parents that he has been to school that afternoon and met someone very interesting. Tom’s teacher had pronounced him a “fool” and showed him that his coffee was still warming in the pot. Tom’s half-brother, Sid, informs Tom that his shirt has been ruined by something in the kerosene bottle. Tom declares that he will wash it himself. Aunt Polly is satisfied, and Tom goes out of the house.
