Glaucoma A Guide For Patients An Introduction For Care Providers A Quick Reference
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out dramatically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's misdeeds and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and tells the family about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is pleased to learn that Tom has skipped school that afternoon and went instead to St. Petersburg, where he met 벨 and discovered that his clothes are still among the things that Aunt Polly is satisfied.

When Tom goes out of the house to get away from the family, he is caught by a group of boys. They take Tom to the wharf and throw him into the river, where Tom is caught by Judge Thatcher. Tom has sworn to himself to disguise his identity and eventually joins the crew of the ship away from home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Joe passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of muzzle. Joe almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with ink, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time, looking very worried and wet. The next day is Tom’s first day at school, and Aunt Polly warns him not to be picked on by the bigger boys. Tom’s whining and complaining go unheard, and he is eventually forced to stand in the corner. Tom’s father, Judge Thatcher, arrives to take Tom to school, and Tom is given a book to read. Tom and Aunt Polly are both disappointed when Tom leaves for school, but Tom’s half-brother, Joe, is happy to play with his new book.

Tom goes out to find a place to read his book. He finds a tree and sets up camp. Tom is surprised when he finds a gold nugget, and decides to keep it as a treasure. Tom goes home to show Aunt Polly his find, but she is not pleased. Aunt Polly warns Tom that he mustn’t keep the treasure, but Tom is determined.
