Health And Inequality Applying Public Health Research To Policy And Practice
The novel opens with Aunt Polly巡reing the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects angrily on Tom’s misbehavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom climbs a tree and promises to tell all about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks Tom if he has been skipped school that afternoon and was somehow in the house, Tom’s half brother, Ben, who is still seven years younger, is not at home and has not been heard from for a week. Aunt Polly angrily asks Tom to tell her the story of his misbehavior. Tom has sworn the boys to keep silent about the treehouse.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.
