The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his bands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper-time, with a dirty and disheveled appearance. He has been skipping school that afternoon and went reeling down the street. He is dressed in ragged clothes and his face is covered with dirt and sweat. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but she is also a bit worried. Tom has already been punished enough for his behavior.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of mule. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
