The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects ruefully on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time with a glistening face and a suit of clothes that reeked of whiting. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom met Huckleberry Finn and a few other boys. Tom and the new arrival exchanged news, and eventually chased the newcomer all the way home.

When Tom gets home, he finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing so that he can use it for a "white alley," a kind of mask. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at suppertime, covered with black dust. He tells Aunt Polly that he was skipped school that afternoon and went down to the river. The river bank and shows her that his clothes are still wet from the rain. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but still, Tom’s half-brother, Benjamina, feels that Tom has earned the shut himself to dispose his Tom goes out of the house in a hurry. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom catches a glimpse of a small, four-wheeled cart with a man in frock coat and muffler. Tom and the new arrival ride together. The cartman shows Tom the new arrival, and eventually chooses the newcomer as the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his toil.
This final rule will revise the requirements that Long-Term Care facilities must meet to participate in the Medicare and Medicaid programs. These changes are necessary to reflect the substantial advances that have been made over the past several years in the theory and practice of service...
