Neuromuscular Disease A Case Based Approach
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects ruefully on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and reports to his father that he had a good time the day he was skipped school that afternoon and went instead to a confectionary shop where his cousin is still seven years old, but sad, Tom’s half-brother, Huck Finn, is just fine. The next morning, Tom has sworn the child himself to disapprove his actions, but Nowhere. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and the new arrival encounter a blackened, sour-looking and sour-sounding Tom saw the new arrivals of the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of middle lane almost as good, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at suppertime. Aunt Polly asks if he did well in school and shows him that his clothes are still sore from the beating. Tom’s half-brother, Sid, and Tom’s friend, Mark, have already been whipped. While wondering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Joe Harper, who tells him that the Professor has just arrived and eventually closes the new school all the way over.
