The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time, all run down but none the worse. He has not been skipping school that afternoon and went around the house and chased boys that his rivals are still away from home, but fast. Tom's half-brother, Joe, is said to have himself disposed of his lexicon and eventually chases the newcomers all the way home.

When he returned home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitenew the fence. Joe passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of ointment. Joe almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Thrombosis (from Ancient Greek θρόμβωσις thrómbōsis “clotting”) is the formation of a blood clot inside a blood vessel, obstructing the flow of blood through the circulatory system.

Deep Vein Thrombosis (DVT) occurs when a blood clot or thrombus forms in one of the deep veins in your body, limiting blood flow. It usually occurs in your leg or pelvis.
