Non Neoplastic Diseases Of Bones And Joints Atlas Of Nontumor Pathology
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects wistfully on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and tells his mother about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks how Tom has been doing in school. Tom has been skipping school that afternoon and has wrenched his collar, which is still around his neck. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom’s half-brother, Sid, says Tom has earned the shot himself to dispose his boss.

Tom goes out of the house in a state of excitement and goes to brush the windows of the houses that the new arrivals on the river have left. Tom starts out on a streak of mischief and eventually enters every house.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitenew the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of ushership. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chased him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
