The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects nastily on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper to find his Aunt has told him about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he can’t be skipped school that afternoon and must review his lessons. Tom is upset and darts away that his teacher is still away from town, but Aunt Polly can’t hear him. Tom’s half-brother, Benjy, asks him how he plans to escape the house, and Tom is angry at the idea of his being a runaway. Tom has sworn not to try to escape again, and now he is planning to work on a new neighborhood job and eventually make some money the way he wants to.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly makes Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “wheezy alley,” a kind of Marcel. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
