The Role Of Anesthesiology In Global Health A Comprehensive Guide
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, and his mother, Mary, has a tale about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is satisfied. She has just heard that Tom has been skipped school that afternoon and went to see the circus, and that his father is still away from home, but not for long. Tom’s half-brother, Jerry, comes in to deliver a message from Jack Nance, who has recently returned from a trip to London. Tom has sworn the boy to silence, but the boy has gone home.

Tom goes out the house to explore the new arrival, and Jack Nance. He is accompanied and eventually chased the newcomer all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of skylight. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
