The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischievous and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper and reports that he has been expelled from school for skipping school that afternoon and for refusing to make his bed and clean his room. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom goes out of the house into the pouring rain, whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and his new pal Huckleberry Finn encounter some boys who are looking for someone to help them with a daring adventure. Tom agrees and eventually chooses the adventure of a lifetime.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom goes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white ally,” a kind of magic. Aunt Polly agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at supper time. His aunt has just been by and told him that he must be spiteful about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that she heard that he has been skipping school. Tom tells her that he has been studying, but Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom’s half-brother, Ben, tries to make himself disorderly, but Tom manages to keep order.

Tom goes out of the house in the afternoon and wanders about the streets of St. Petersburg. He is surprised and annoyed when he sees Huckleberry Finn skipping school. The two boys eventually come across the new arrival, Joe Harper. They make fun of him and eventually chase him all the way home.
